AI READINESS MEMO

GenAI Strategic Readiness Index (GSRI) Analysis

Abstract

Company: ACME Corp (Fictitious Example)

This document is a demonstration example. ACME Corp is a fictitious company used for illustrative purposes only.
Prepared by: Trident-AI Ltd
Date: July 06, 2025

GSRI Readiness Memo – ACME Corp

Date: July 06, 2025

Sector: Finance

Assessment Type: GenAI Strategic Readiness Interview (GSRI)

I.   GSRI Score Summary

Overall Level: C – Early Stage
Legend:

📊 What is GSRI?

The GSRI is a fast, expert-led assessment that scores your organization across 5 key dimensions of GenAI maturity.

Score /100	Level	Interpretation
< 40	D	🚨 Danger – High risk of disruption
< 60	C	⚠️ Early stage – Needs alignment
< 75	B	✅ Solid foundation – Ready to scale
≥ 75	A	🏆 GenAI Leader – Competitive advantage

II.   Analysis

Dimension	Level
Strategy & Leadership	B
Data & Governance	D
Technology & Infrastructure	C
Talent & Culture	C
Use Cases & Impact	D

Total GSRI Score: 54.7 / 100

GSRI Radar Chart – ACME Corp

III.   GenAI Opportunities

- Asset price forecasting using Transformers and Time Series models

- Automating financial report generation with LLMs

- Regulatory data extraction and summarization using RAG techniques

- Intelligent chatbots for client interaction and support

IV.   Strategic Recommendations

1. Launch a GenAI pilot focused on financial report automation

2. Establish a cross-functional AI task force to oversee initiatives

3. Invest in data infrastructure and model experimentation capabilities

4. Reassess GSRI score in 3 months to track progress

V. Strategic Alignment Summary

ACME Corp demonstrates early-stage GenAI readiness with strong leadership support but limited infrastructure and impact.

The company should focus on foundational improvements in data governance and use case deployment to move toward a leadership position.

The GSRI score of 54.7/100 indicates a solid starting point for transformation.